

Ying-Hong Wang

Professor

Department of Computer Science and Information Engineering

Tamkang University

Dr. Wang received the B.S. degree in Information Engineering from Chung-Yuan University, Taiwan, in 1986 and the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in Information Engineering from the Tamkang University, in 1992 and 1996, respectively.

From 1988 to 1990, he worked in the Product Development Division of Institute of Information Industry (III). From 1992 to 1996, he was a lecturer in the department of computer science and information engineering of Tamkang University. From August 1st, 1996 to January 31, 2008, he was an associate professor in the department of computer science and information engineering of Tamkang University. From August First, 2004 to July 31, 2008, he served as the Chair of Department of Computer Science and Information Engineering, Tamkang University. Beginning February 1st, 2008, he promoted to be a professor of the department of computer science and information engineering, Tamkang University. Beginning February 1st, 2014 to date, he serves as the Chief of Distance Education Development Section, Tamkang University.

He has over 100 technological papers published on International journals and International conference proceedings, he also join many International activities been program committee, workshop chair, session chair and so on. He had been invited as Visiting Researcher in The University of Aizu, Japan, from January to March 2002, in Beijing Jiaotong University, China from October to November, 2012, and the University of Washington, Seattle, USA, from July to September, 2013. He is also an Adjunct Professor of Beijing Jiaotong University, China, starting from April 2007, of Shanghai University, China, starting from September 2010, and Hefei University of Technology, China, starting from July 2011.

His current research interests are Software Engineering, e-Learning, Wireless Communication, and Mobile Agent.